

Become “Active” in Class

Listen carefully to what your professor says and participate in the class discussion.

Take notes on important concepts that are discussed in class. Include examples of those concepts, including personal examples that help you relate to the material.

If You Would Like to Learn More About How to Study Psychology

